Answer guide 1-4 | Keep with host

1. C. Judy Garland

Judy Garland played Dorothy in the 1939 film. Specifying the year distinguishes this familiar screen version from later adaptations of the story in other media.

2. C. Julie Andrews

Julie Andrews played Mary Poppins in the 1964 film. The dated wording avoids confusion with later films and stage productions using the same character.

3. A. Singin' in the Rain

Gene Kelly and Stanley Donen directed Singin' in the Rain. Its story looks back at Hollywood's transition from silent films to talking pictures.

4. B. Charlie Chaplin

Charlie Chaplin created and portrayed the Tramp. The recognizable costume and movement offer visual associations even though this printable round contains no image-identification task.

5. C. Casablanca

Casablanca stars Bogart and Bergman. The pairing of performers identifies the film without asking for an exact quotation or revealing the outcome of its story.

6. B. Roman Holiday

Roman Holiday features Audrey Hepburn as a princess in Rome. The setting and role provide complementary clues for participants who remember only part of the film.

7. A. The Sound of Music

The Sound of Music depicts the von Trapp family in a dramatized story. A film adaptation should not be treated as a complete historical account.

8. A. Director

A director guides major creative aspects of a film, including performances. Filmmaking is collaborative, so the answer does not imply that one person performs every creative task.

Answer guide 9-12 | Keep with host

9. C. Screenplay

A screenplay sets out scenes, action and dialogue. It differs from the finished film, which also depends on performance, cinematography, editing, sound and many other contributions.

10. A. Editing

Editing selects and assembles shots into a sequence. It shapes pace and meaning, making it more than merely removing accidental mistakes from recorded material.

11. B. Musical

A musical integrates songs into its presentation. Styles vary, and songs may serve different dramatic purposes rather than appearing in one fixed pattern.

12. B. Ben-Hur

Ben-Hur is the 1959 epic starring Charlton Heston. The chariot-race clue identifies a famous sequence without asking participants to remember the entire plot.
