Host guide | A conversation, not a test

Set out a few cards

Choose three to five questions. Cut along the borders if useful, or keep each sheet whole. Everyone may answer, listen, or pass.

Begin gently

Open with a window-seat preference and allow a simple answer. Then use the card about a view passing by. Explain that nobody needs to name a destination, provide dates, or describe an expensive holiday. The questions can all be answered as choices for a fictional day out.

Make room for every voice

Read one question, then pause. Accept short replies. Ask before inviting more detail. Let each person choose whether to share a memory or invent an answer.

Try this extension

Build a gentle three-stop itinerary for an imaginary outing. Choose a place to begin, something to notice on the way, and a comfortable stopping point. A pair can invent a postcard from the middle of the journey. Avoid turning the session into travel advice or comparing whose trip was more impressive.
