Working Life Cards

Host guide | A conversation, not a test

Set out a few cards

Choose three to five questions. Cut along the borders if useful, or keep each sheet whole. Everyone may answer, listen, or pass.

Begin gently

Begin with the question about a well-organized workspace. It can be answered from an office, a kitchen, a workshop, or an imagined setting. Say explicitly that unpaid work counts. If someone does not want to discuss their own working life, invite them to advise a fictional newcomer instead.

Make room for every voice

Read one question, then pause. Accept short replies. Ask before inviting more detail. Let each person choose whether to share a memory or invent an answer.

Try this extension

As a group, design a welcoming first day for someone joining an imaginary team. Decide what they should be shown, what should be written down, and who could answer questions. A pair can compare useful ways to explain a task. Keep workplace grievances optional and do not press for names or identifying details.
